CASE STUDY

PRODUCT

An old style sectional water tank with internal stay bars at a site in Shropshire.

This tank was sited externally and was leaking badly.

The tank was lifted out in one piece over the Christmas shutdown.

We replaced this old style sectional tank with two of our Precolor Exell one-piece tanks.

Our Exell range of one-piece tanks are designed specifically as an alternative to externally sited sectional tanks.

Exell tanks have no internal stay-bars or joints and there are no expensive on-site erection costs.

Our two Exell tanks were piped together to allow each tank to be shut down for cleaning whilst the other tank is kept running.
