

Pop-up Shipping Container Food Truck

Following an initial brief, we were asked to design and supply an initial concept in relation to a bespoke, shipping container food-truck type unit come pop-up container servery unit. Having worked with the client and our container conversions team, we designed a unit, complete with the indication specification, as below:

- steel personnel door, for easy access (lockable)
- upward opening serving hatch supported on struts (original container profile retained)
- externally re-sprayed in a bespoke yellow colour
- marine ply flooring retained
- internal steel walls and ceiling retained for client fit-out

The above container conversion project was completed on-time and the supplied, ready for client to brand and fit out for their food business. The concept is easily moveable, as containers offer an ideal portable solution for any food and beverage business, to operate from multiple sites.

shipping container pop up food truck bar and cafe unit container street food stall London unit bespoke conversion

shipping container market stall and food truck unit

16ft container food truck London container conversions

We were also able to arrange delivery direct to our clients' location using hi-ab equipped specialised container delivery vehicles. For any container food truck type, or market stall shipping containers, serving food and beverages, do contact our container conversions department. Such pop-up containers can be used, for container bars, container cafes and servery and/or kiosk type units. As they are non permanent and you can easily have them delivered and collected, as required - through a network of operators, we offer a nationwide delivery service for such container conversions. We have our own conversion workshop, so can build these containers bespoke to your specification.