

Langley Design gains ISO 14001 certification

A Major Step Towards a Greener Future

We're delighted to share a significant milestone in our sustainability journey — Langley Design is now officially ISO 14001 certified.

ISO 14001 is the internationally recognized standard for environmental management systems. Earning this certification is a clear reflection of our team's ongoing dedication to reducing waste, improving environmental performance, and embedding sustainable practices into everything we do.

Achieving this accreditation wasn't an overnight process. It's the result of months of hard work, rigorous audits, and the continual refinement of our systems, policies, and procedures to meet the high standards required by ISO 14001.

This latest achievement joins our existing ISO 9001 (quality management) and ISO 45001 (occupational health and safety) certifications, giving our customers even greater confidence in the quality, safety, and sustainability of our products and services.

For us, it's more than just a certificate — it's a proud moment that highlights our commitment to continuous improvement and responsible business practices. We're excited to keep building on this momentum as we continue to grow in a way that's better for our people, our partners, and our planet.