

10 Ways to Showcase a Modern Glass Display Cabinet

There are many things you can put into a modern glass display cabinet. Get some inspiration for ways to spruce up your home or living space.

Perhaps you've inherited or purchased a beautiful modern glass display cabinet. Or maybe you're looking for one to display a prized collection, but aren't sure where to begin when thinking about how best to use it in your space.

Glass display cabinets can be a beautiful focal point of any room. They can also double as important storage in tight spaces, and help create the illusion of more space when used in place of heavier elements like wood or metal.

It can be easy to get overwhelmed when trying to figure out how best to style and utilize your glass display cabinets. There are lots of ways to showcase them, however, and we have the tips and tricks you need to help you spruce up your home with a beautiful piece. Read on for more about the 10 best ways to showcase a modern glass display cabinet.

1. CONSIDER YOUR MOST CHERISHED ITEMS

If you're unsure what to put in a beautiful new glass cabinet display case, consider what you already have on hand. If you have cherished items spread throughout your house, this might be a perfect opportunity to gather them in one central place for display.

This may be easy if you're a collector. If you have beautiful pottery, family silver, or valuable sports memorabilia, these are all clear candidates for display.

But remember, you don't have to limit yourself to the expected display items. Do you have a collection of knick-knacks from your travels? Sentimental items from weddings or other special events? Cherished books, toys, or handmade items by your children?

Don't be afraid to get creative and include the unexpected in your glass display cabinets!

2. ORGANIZE YOUR ESSENTIALS

Another approach is to use your glass display cabinet to organize essential items while also adding a visual twist. One great way to do this is to use your piece as glass kitchen cabinets.

This works especially well if you have a small kitchen and want to provide the illusion of more space. Using glass to display glassware, cookware, and other items can make even a small room feel more open.

3. USE BASKETS TO HIDE ITEMS

Baskets can tuck nicely inside your glass display cabinets. You can use these to store items you don't want to be visible, such as linens and towels, while still having the clean look of glass.

Consider alternating shelves with baskets and shelves without them to add visual interest. You can also paint baskets or other storage bins to coordinate with the color scheme in the room.

4. USE MIRRORS TO ADD DEPTH

Mirrors are a popular design element to add depth, especially in dark or small spaces. You can place mirrors behind your shelving to create the illusion of more depth if you have your display case against a wall.

Keep in mind, however, that mirrors will reflect a second image of any items displayed in your case. This is a nice option for cases that only have a few objects in them, or that aren't particularly cluttered.

5. CONSIDER LIGHTING OPTIONS

Many glass display cabinets come with lighting to illuminate your beautiful collections. You can also consider adding LED lighting to each shelf to make your items stand out even more.

This may also be a nice option if your display cabinet is in a particularly dark area of your home. Lighting can allow you to make your most prized possessions stand out even more, often to dramatic effect.

6. VARY HEIGHTS FOR VISUAL INTEREST

When organizing your glass display cabinet, keep in mind essential tips and tricks for displaying collections anywhere in your home. One of the most important things to do is vary the heights of your objects to maintain visual interest. You'll also want to alternate types of objects on different shelves, group them carefully, and leave some space.

7. ADD PLANTS FOR BRIGHTNESS

During the pandemic, thousands of people began cultivating houseplants. Experts see this only continuing as they look ahead to plant trends for the coming year.

Not only are plants rewarding and satisfying to grow, but they can also add a beautiful touch to your decor. Consider adding a few small plants to your glass cabinet display case, and let the greenery contrast with the clean lines of the glass.

8. GET CREATIVE WITH YOUR SPACE

Keep in mind that where you place your cabinet determines not only its visual appeal but its function. You can't use a cabinet to display trophies and sports memorabilia if you have it in a crowded kitchen.

Remember, too, that a modern glass display cabinet may allow you to make use of odd corners or small spaces that previously seemed unusable. There are beautiful designs for corner display showcases and other tricky areas of your home. These can help you capitalize on space that would otherwise go unused, and add a beautiful and unexpected touch.

9. BALANCE GLASS WITH OTHER MATERIALS

Glass is cherished for its clean lines and visual appeal. Consider heightening that appeal with just the right amount of contrast. Some displays, for example, have wooden cabinets built into them, or wood trim accents. You may also find a beautiful metal and glass display cabinet.

While some displays offer built-in contrast in material, if you already have a cabinet that is nearly entirely made of glass, you can still incorporate other materials. Consider adding other materials and contrasting textural elements to the items in or near your glass display cabinets. Wood, metal, leather, wicker, and textiles all offer a beautiful addition to the clean look of glass.

10. DON'T FORGET TO HAVE FUN

It is important to understand the basic rules of design when considering how to style your glass display cabinet. On the other hand, remember these rules are merely guidelines.

At the end of the day, you are displaying your treasures in your home. A beautiful glass showcase is designed to help you make use of your space, keep your most prized possessions clean and protected, and bring joy to you and your family.
