

And the winner is.....

Advanced Rework Technology Ltd are proud to announce that their Managing Director, Debbie Wade, won the Industry Personality Award at the recent Electronics Industry Awards Ceremony held during What's New In Electronics Live-WNIE Live September 25-26 2018, Birmingham, UK.

In addition to this award, Advanced Rework Technology Ltd received a Highly Commended recognition in the category of Best Academic Support.

Debbie Wade said 'I was delighted to receive the Highly Commended title in the Academic Support category so was certainly surprised to hear my name read out as the overall winner in the category of Industry Personality especially when I saw the names of the other people short listed and the large companies and organisations they are associated with. I am humbled that so many people took the time to vote for me and the staff here at Advanced Rework Technology Ltd.

I am so proud of team ART and what they have achieved over the last 12 months so was pleased to have some of them with me during the awards ceremony to allow for them to be recognised and appreciated by their peers and the industry.

Well done team, let's work towards a clean sweep at the 2019 awards!'

During What's New In Electronics Live 2018, ART Ltd organised and run the IPC Hand Soldering Competition. This year saw 16 contestants competing against each other and the clock to win a place at the World final held during IPC APEX 2019 in San Diego, CA.

All at ART Ltd, IPC and the show organisers would like to congratulate MSF Technologies, Norwich, UK for winning this year's event.
